Three strikes isn't always an out: Pam's story

Like many of the women who come to The Gathering Place, Pam never thought she'd be homeless.

A mother of three, she raised her children as a single parent while working full time and going to school to earn her undergraduate and then master's degree.

Pam moved to Denver in 2005 from her home state of Texas, by way of Minnesota. Her daughter lived here and when the relationship she had moved to Minnesota for didn't work out, she came to visit and decided to stay. Pam worked initially as an independent writer, but soon the combination of student loan debt, a struggling national economy, and a few unfortunate circumstances—like the discovery of asbestos in an apartment building that forced her to evacuate with only three hours notice—led her to experience homelessness not once, not twice, but three times.

"Sometimes the smallest comment from someone can help get you through a difficult time," she says. "Those at The Gathering Place have been supportive, outraged on my behalf, and a wealth of information and resources.

"You can't underestimate the value of any of these programs," she continues, noting the abundance of offerings. Pam has visited us off and on over the years to access resources and participate in programs such as The Card Project, knitting, and the Writer's Group. And as she shares her latest projects from each program, her intelligence, creativity, and ingenuity are evident.

She is quick to acknowledge her gratitude for the food she receives daily through our kitchen and monthly from Betsy's Cupboard, as well as for the services offered onsite by Stacey Soom, a Denver Department of Human Services employee who helped her to find her current apartment in a transitional housing unit.

As Pam continues to look for work—her last job was with a market research firm—she comes to The Gathering Place to both receive services and to give back to the community that has given so much to her.

She is involved in developing a group for The Card Project called The Artists' Bridge. "There are some things the staff members and volunteers just don't have time to do and projects they need extra help with," she says. So, artists involved in this group support the work of volunteers by packaging cards and restocking supplies, and they hope to develop an artists' mentoring program in the near future.

Having someone purchase her initial attempts at card creation "was very encouraging to me," Pam says. "So, I kept at it and have now moved on to creating larger pieces of art." Pam has found a niche in mixed media and the use of found items. She is currently experimenting with dyed coffee filters and uses them to create flowers and other items on her cards.

"One thing I have learned with art is that practice and perseverance are as important as skill," she says. "It's like anything. If you don't practice, you won't get anywhere.

"Being in The Card Project makes you feel more competent," she continues. "When you are homeless, you can forget what it is that you can do. You can forget who you were before."

Pam's whimsical card creations.

The flowers on this card were made from dyed coffee filters.

The Gathering Place's position on urban camping

As we were finalizing this newsletter for publication, the Denver City Council passed an urban camping ban, making the act of sleeping in public places illegal. The ban is set to go into effect on May 30, 2012.

The Gathering Place Board of Directors has agreed that we, as an organization, are opposed to the ordinance. This isn't to say that we are pro-camping. We don't want any of the individuals we serve to have to sleep on the streets. However, we know that there are not enough shelter beds available to accommodate all those sleeping on the streets, and until solutions are set in place that provide viable alternatives and complementary services, we cannot, in good conscious, support the ordinance.

There are currently 158 shelter beds available for the estimated 400 unaccompanied women who are homeless in the city of Denver on any given night. During the winter months, overflow beds are added at shelters and some churches open their doors to offer additional space, but the number of available beds is never enough to meet the need. Links to a piece about the ban and the difficulties it presents for women specifically, written for The Denver Post by our CEO Leslie Foster, along with Terrell Curtis of The Delores Project and Victoria McVicker of SafeHouse Denver, are available on our website and Facebook page.

So, in the coming weeks and months, we ask that you join with us in advocating for long-term solutions that include both additional support services and more shelter spaces. And, on behalf of those we serve, thank you for your support!

Good times had by all at Bon Temps on Bourbon Street

A sold out crowd of The Gathering Place's friends and supporters came together on April 13 for our annual gala, Bon Temps on Bourbon Street. Held at Sports Authority Field at Mile High, the event raised nearly $180,000 to help fund our programs and services.

Special guests for the evening included "Above and Beyond" award honorees Elizabeth Gundlach Neufeld and Daniel Neufeld, King of Glory Lutheran Church, and Turner Construction. These individuals and groups were recognized for their outstanding commitment to and masks and beads upon their arrival. Tyree Morris and H.O.W. played jazz music during the silent auction portion of the evening, guests received tarot card readings by Tina Collins, and had the opportunity to ham it up in the photo booth donated by Just Shutter Up. Even the evening's meal featured a Southern flair with bourbon pecan bread pudding or bananas foster for dessert.

Thank you to our 2012 gala sponsors: Associate Sponsors- Sandy and Gary Autrey, Janice and Jim Campbell, Elizabeth and Vincent Duncan, Jr., and Whiting Petroleum

Representatives from Turner Construction. The company was also honored for their commitment and service to The Gathering Place.

Among this year's exciting auction items were a three-night getaway at Brush Creek Ranch, a suite for a regular season Colorado Avalanche game during the 2012-2013 season, and a dinner party for eight with our CEO Leslie Foster. The dinner included a five-course meal prepared by Brandon Foster, executive chef at Vesta Dipping Grill, and Jane Berryman, Gourmet Fitness Pro, and wine selected and served by Aaron Foster, sommelier, Elways, Cherry Creek. The auction committee was chaired by Jeff Bowers.

Donation list for Betsy's Cupboard

Through Betsy's Cupboard, our emergency food and supply pantry, The Gathering Place provides an average of over 8,000 pounds of food and 400 toiletry bags each month for women, children, and transgender individuals who otherwise might not have these resources.

If you are interested in sponsoring or organizing a food or supply drive, or just want to learn more about Betsy's Cupboard, please contact Lydia Rodriguez at 303-996-9046 or lydiafaye@tgpdenver.org.

A quick note about food donations:

In an effort to support the health of those we serve at The Gathering Place, we prefer organic, low-sodium, and low-fat food item donations whenever possible. According to the Colorado Health Foundation, two out of three Coloradoans will be obese by 2017 and will suffer from obesity related diseases. The likelihood that an individual will experience obesity triples when their family income is less than $25,000 a year.

volunteers

Thank you to our many volunteers

Every week, more than 200 volunteers come to The Gathering Place to contribute their time, skills, and most importantly, themselves, to help our organization be the best it can be. These volunteers help in many different ways: greeting members and providing information; preparing and serving meals; playing with children and providing support for mothers; offering help in the computer lab; restocking items and taking appointments in both Betsy's Cupboard and Bridget's Boutique; and performing numerous other tasks and activities throughout the building.

During the 2010-2011 fiscal year, our volunteers contributed 25,501 hours of service, time that is equivalent to 12 full time staff positions. Thank you to all of our volunteers for everything you contribute to The Gathering Place!

Help us Feed the Need this summer

Last summer, a cute little monster named "The Need" helped us launch a campaign to raise funds for and awareness about the food programs at The Gathering Place. "The Need" traveled to a food truck rally, a kickball game, the Old South Pearl Street Farmer's Market, and many other locations to help us spread the word about food insecurity and what we're doing at The Gathering Place to alleviate it.

After a much-deserved vacation, "The Need" is back again this year and looking for your help in three areas. 1. Food Drives- Help restock the shelves in Betsy's Cupboard by organizing a food drive. A list of needed items is available at www.tgpdenver.org/needs and we have detailed information on how to plan a successful food drive at www.tgpdenver.org/fooddrive. 2. Meal Sponsorships- Do you belong to a group that would like to sponsor and serve a meal? Contact Justine Zollo at justine@tgpdenver.org or 303-996-9034; and 3. Personal Fundraising Pages- Leverage your personal connections and networks by creating an online support page at <http://tgpdenver.donorpages.com/FeedtheNeed>.

Providing quality food for the many individuals who come through our doors is an enormous undertaking. We rely on the community for donated items to stock Betsy's Cupboard and the annual cost of providing 14 meals a week through our kitchen is just over $195,000. We hope you'll join with us this summer in our efforts to Feed the Need!

6th Annual Turner Open to be held on August 14

The beautiful Bear Dance Golf Course in Larkspur, Colo. will host this year's Turner Open—a tournament that benefits The Gathering Place— on August 14, 2012. Registration and breakfast begin at 6:30 a.m., followed by a shotgun start at 8 a.m. The day wraps up with lunch and an awards ceremony at 1 p.m. For more information, contact Dayle Jones at dgjones@tcco.com or 303-210-9147.

Want to plan an event to benefit The Gathering Place?

We are so thankful for the numerous community members and business owners who have chosen to show their support for The Gathering Place by creating and/or hosting a special event or fundraiser for us.

Third-party events and fundraisers are essential to The Gathering Place, and there are numerous types of events and activities that can be done in a way that benefit us. In the past year, we've received both monetary and in-kind donations from events like:

- Avs Better Halves Diaper Drive
- Colorado Women's Bar Association Baby Shower
- The Community Gathering 5K/10K
- Encana Employee Chili Cook Off

Tommy Vickers Memorial Golf Tournament on September 24

When Thomas "Tommy" Vickers lost a courageous battle with stomach cancer in 2010, The Gathering Place community lost a man who was described as living "life with both hands and a soft heart."

The Gathering Place is honored to celebrate Tommy's life through the 2nd annual Tommy Vickers Memorial Golf Tournament this year. Tommy loved to golf and began playing at age 3 on the nine-hole sand course his father had built on their family estate in Wichita, Kan. He and his brothers carried single-digit golf handicaps and competed nationwide. Tommy later played in two U.S. Amateur Championships and made nine appearances in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am.

The Tommy Vickers Memorial Golf Tournament is an exclusive tournament that gives golfers a chance to win a new vehicle, try their luck in a putting contest, and go home with fantastic prizes, all while enjoying a day of golf on one of Denver's premier courses. The event not only provides the opportunity to gather as friends to participate in an activity that Tommy loved, but also to fondly remember and honor his life, love, and legacy.

The Tommy Vickers Memorial Golf Tournament will be held on Monday, September 24, 2012 at The Club at Pradera in Parker, Colo. The cost is $1,600 per foursome. Jewell Insurance is the event's Title Sponsor, but other sponsorships are still available. Contact Laura Meixell for more information at laura@tgpdenver.org or 303-996-9048.

Various grants provide much needed support for The Gathering Place

The Gathering Place is grateful for the strong community support we receive every year.

Thank you to the following funders who have already provided substantial grant funding this year: The Anschutz Foundation, A.V. Hunter Trust, Edward L. Johnstone Memorial, Florence Martin Memorial Foundation, Fred & Jean Allegretti

Foundation, Gay & Lesbian Fund for Colorado, Green Fund, Helen M. McLoraine Gathering Place Endowment Fund, Heider Family Foundation, Kinnickinnic Realty, Kroenke Sports Charities, Liniger Fund, Luff Family Fund, and Vodafone Americas Foundation.

The Avs Better Halves distributed several grants to front-range nonprofit organizations before the April 5 Avalanche game against the Columbus Blue Jackets. The Gathering Place received a grant in the amount of $5,000.

The Gathering Place was recognized and honored by The Denver Post Community Foundation at a Unique Lives & Experiences presentation on April 30, 2012 featuring Lucie Arnaz. Before Arnaz spoke, Tracy Ulmer recognized The Gathering Place for our work with women and children in the Denver metro area and announced that we would be receiving a $5,000 contribution from The Denver Post Community Foundation. Arnaz then gave a stirring presentation about both her life and career, and the lives and careers of her parents, Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz. We were thrilled to be a part of such a lovely evening!

New all over: Bridget's Boutique remodeled and donation guidelines updated Bridget's Boutique, the clothing distribution program at The Gathering Place, is up and running and better than ever following a recent remodel coordinated by Shannon Wade, a 2011 graduate of the Rocky Mountain College of Art + Design (RMCAD). Wade first visited The Gathering Place for a tour and then suggested a design charrette and remodel as a volunteer opportunity for her class.

"The rest of the building is beautiful," says Joy Wagner, interior design faculty member at RMCAD and advisor for the project. "We wanted the boutique to match it."

When the charrette resulted in a posh, truly boutique-like design, Wade and Wagner set out to solicit donations for the needed items: shelving, fabric, paint, hangers, storage containers, and more. A generous donation of materials through IKEA took care of the furniture and organization system needs. Knoll Textiles provided material for curtains in the space and RMCAD provided paint and supplies.

Then in April, a team of volunteers including Wade and Wagner's family members, students and faculty from RMCAD, and employees of Convergint Technologies, met at The Gathering Place to paint, assemble shelving, hang curtains, and completely make over the Boutique.

As you can see from the photographs above, the new design provides ample space for many clothes by utilizing multiple levels of hanging space in the wardrobes. There are also shoe racks, a wall unit full of plastic bins for bra storage, and a mobile unit with drawers to store new socks and underwear. The side of the room not pictured includes several more wardrobe units and a small changing room, partitioned off by curtains, with a full-length mirror.

"I'm excited to have such a beautiful, redesigned space," says Bridget Johnson, The Gathering Place's personal services coordinator who runs the Boutique. "Being able to look for clothing in a space like this is a dignifying experience, which is exactly what we want."

Updated Donation Guidelines: In conjunction with the newly designed Boutique, we have updated donation guidelines for in-kind contributions. Currently, we are only able to accept new, unexpired food; new, unopened toiletries; and new socks and underwear onsite. This means we also accept new, unexpired baby food and formula; new, unopened packages of diapers and wipes; and new, unopened bottles of baby lotion, wash, powder, and diaper rash ointment onsite for the Family Area.

You can still donate clothes to Bridget's Boutique through Heritage Cleaners. However, the clothes must be clean and on hangers, and there is a limit of 20 items per person at a time that can be donated. Clothing we are unable to use goes to USAgain, an organization that pays us by the pound for our contributions. Money earned through this partnership is used to buy needed items for the Boutique.

Other donations that we are unable to accept—furniture, books, toys, home décor, linens, blankets, sports items, garage items, and more—can be given to Arc Thrift Stores on behalf of The Gathering Place. For these donations, Arc Thrift Stores will provide vouchers for our members to shop for the specific items they need.

Thank you to everyone who helped with the redesign of Bridget's Boutique and to all of you who donate in-kind goods to us each year. We couldn't do it without you!
